By the Associated Press. PIERRE, S. D., May 22.-Two Chicago youths accused of killing woman school teacher who befriended them were placed under guard here today as a precaution against mob violence.

Sheriff Jack Reedy of Sully County removed the youths from the jail at Onida last night because "feeling is running high" there. No demonstrations or threats were nade, but the Sheriff said the killing has caused much excitement.

Assistant State Attorney-General Ellsworth Evans said the pair, Norman Westberg, 17 years old, and Howard Christenson, 16, confessed fatally shooting and robbing Miss Ada Carey, 26, of Blunt, S. D. Sheriff Reedy said they would be charged with murder.

She Identifies Pair. Miss Carey was driving to her home after completing her year's work at Frankfort, S. D., when the boys asked for a ride. She identified her assailants shortly before she died.

The youths were captured by a posse armed with rifles and shot-guns. Franklyn Hyde, Pierre sportsman, who uses an airplane to hunt coyotes, joined in the search from the air. The boys had $6.20 when captured. Miss Carey's purse, containing $10, was found nearby. Evans said the youths confessed they desired the teacher's money and car so they might continue a trip to California. He said Christenson, sitting in the rear seat of the car, struck Miss Carey three times on the head with a hammer and that Westberg, in the front seat, shot the teacher in the hand

WASHINGTON, May 22. - President Roosevelt's request for a $1,-500,000,000 work-relief fund for the next fiscal year won ample support in the House yesterday but went over until Monday for final

There were attempts to cut as much as one-third from the total in the name of economy and electron forts to increase it to $3,000,000,000 but the House approved the President's estimate by a vote of 210 to 128. There was no roll call.

to Be Considering Tonnage Levy on Mineral Exports. by the Associated Press. HAVANA, May 22 .- The Cabinet was reported today to be planning a ax of 5 per cent on all funds sent out of Cuba The rate is an increase over the 3 per cent tax tentatively agreed on a few days ago and was taken to offset a decision against proposals to increase the gross receipts tax from 11/2 to 2 per cent. Another revenue measure understood to be under consideration was a tonnage tax on mineral exports to raise $1,000,000 a year. The new taxation was intended to produce $9,000,000 to take the place of a profit on $20,000,000 of silver coinage which will be discontinued for the present.

Arctic winter on Rudolf Island, about 82 degrees north and 60 east, where they had established the settlement that until now was the ost northerly in the world. Four of the 11 men who landed at the pole will remain at the permanent base there for a year studying weather conditions. They are Ivan Papanin, in command of the base; Ernest Krenkel, radio operator; Pyotr Shirsov, a hydro-biologist, and Eugene Federov, magnetologist. The observations are expected to determine the feasibility of the air route from Moscow to San Franisco by way of the North Pole. Such an air route presumably would lie slightly northeast from Moscow to Rudolf Island and from there in straight course over the pole to San Francisco. The distance from Moscow to the North Pole is about 2000 miles; from the pole to San Francisco about 3000. The present base at Rudolf Island is approximately 1500 miles from the Soviet capital

It Would Consider, Among Other Things, Reduction of Number of Pupils per Teacher.

Plans for the formation of a research committee of the Teachers' Union of St. Louis and St. Louis County, to study needs of the teachers in the city's public schools, were announced at a public meeting of the union last night at Cabanne

Dr. Paul W. Preisler, president of the union, an instructor at Washington University Medical School, said the subjects to be considered would include: Reduction of the number of pupils per teacher; provision of general college education by the school board; changes in the sick leave system, and establishment of a retirement or pension

Only about 35 persons, many of whom were non-members of the union, attended the meeting, the union's first gathering since the recent repeal by the school board of a dead-letter rule forbidding teachers to belong to unions. Dr. Preisler said about half of those present were public school teachers and that one man was said to be a principal. The union has not ver undertaken a campaign to enroll nembers from the public schools. In a recent poll the teaching corps voted by more than 5 to 1 in favor of retaining the anti-union rule.

Boys in the smallest tents, the "pup" tents, which are six feet ong, four feet wide and not even tall enough to sit up in, waited to see whether the rain would reach them, and when it did, they scurried out to find shelter in the larger tents.

For an hour they huddled together until the downpour was over. Then, too crowded, wet and uncomfortable to sleep any more, they commenced stirring about camp, and by 4:30 everyone in camp

In the regular program arranged for the camparall, breakfast was to be at 7 o'clock. This schedule was observed today because the scouts needed all the time between their early rising and the breakfast hour o get the fires started. THE FIRST ONE-CHAMBER SESSION.

With the boss-ridden Missouri Legislature killing time and no definite adjournment date set, there is all the more reason for Missourians to take notice of the now completed first session of Nebraska's one-chamber Assembly. Full appraisal of the experiment which Senator Norris induced his State to undertake will have to wait upon wider experience Some preliminary observations, however, are appropriate at this time.

Inasmuch as the mounting cost of State government is a grave concern in Missouri, it may be said aroused cries of horror. Why should 100 per cent at the outset that the one-chamber legislature was substantially less expensive than its last two-chamber predecessor. The 1935 session cost $203,000, while that which was held this year cost only $140,000, a Ku Kluxer or Black Legionnaire could tolerate this saving of more than $63,000, approximately one-third. Along with the reduction in members brought efficiency in law-making. The 1935 session ran for pensing agency, W P A, had a total of 2,254,200 per-110 legislative days and passed 192 bills. The sesits opening, with 226 bills passed. Obviously, in itself, sion which has just adjourned closed 98 days after the number of bills passed is no test of quality, but in this case it does seem to bear out the contention of Senator Norris that the merging of the two chambers would remove the opportunity for buck-passing and the old practice of the bosses playing one chamber against the other.

The budget approved, the largest in the history of Nebraska, was criticised by Gov. Cochran because it exceeded by $5,000,000 that proposed by the executive, but at the same time the legislators submitted a State constitutional amendment for sweeping administrative changes in behalf of efficiency and economy. T is generally conceded that the most Among the other enactments were bills for State unemployment insurance, a highway safety patrol unemployment insurance, a highway safety patrol and county administration of relief. The child-labor Thus far, nothing constructive has been amendment was rejected, as was a bill to legalize socalled mercy deaths.

Perhaps the most significant fact disclosed at the end of the session is that not one of the 43 legislators had any desire to go back to the old two-chamber system. The Speaker, who had served in 12 of the old two-chamber Legislatures, declared flatly that Nebraska would "never return to the two-house system." It seems likely that a fair estimate came from another member, who said that "the faults of the sulphur content to 3 per cent. But the unicameral were the faults of the bicameral as well, while the virtues of the unicameral are the virtues of the one-house system alone."

EXAMPLE OF ALIEN-BAITING.

Alien-baiting has long been a popular pastime in Congress and a typical example of it was the recent statement that "as many as 1,000,000 aliens of illegal entry are on our relief rolls." This naturally of Poles, Greeks, Slovenes, Russians and so on who have no business in this country, anyhow? No true condition.

Let us see how close to accuracy the statement lies. On April 17, the principal Federal relief-dissons on its rolls. Were approximately half of these "aliens of illegal entry"? The question answers itthat fewer than 5 per cent of all persons on Federal relief rolls were aliens. One-fourth of these had taken out naturalization papers. About 170,000 nonfirst-paper alien heads of families were on the rolls. That number has since declined with the general decrease in W P A employment.

In 1936, a survey of the citizenship and race distribution of the entire home-relief population of New York City was made by the Emergency Relief Bureau. It showed that 12.8 per cent of heads of families, and 7.5 per cent of those transferred to W P A during the preceding fiscal year, were noncitizens, as against 15.1 per cent of adult non-citizens in the city's total population. In other words, it appears, from this and other studies, that the proportion of all aliens on relief is approximately the same as their proportion in the general population. According to immigration authorities, at least 39 out of 40 non-first-paper aliens are in this country legally. If that holds true for W P A payrolls, and if there are now, as is estimated, 120,000 non-firstpaper aliens on those rolls, it appears the number of aliens illegally here and being supported by Federal funds would be about 3000. So the mathematical calculation of the congressional breast-thumper erred by approximately 997,000.

Rivalry Among Divorce-Mill States

Granting of easy divorces is lucrative business in several states, and they are seeking to outdo one another with speedy service; Arkansas now lures customers with provision for decrees by mutual consent; writer asserts courts have held such divorces invalid, and clients may be storing up trouble for themselves.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: D ENO, Nev., is famous the world over for the ease with which a person may ob-I the ease with which a person of tain a divorce there. The granting of divorces is, in fact, its basic industry. The commercial importance of the business can be well appreciated from the reported statement of one merchant that without the divorce business he would be unable to bal

The direct income to the State is also no slight matter, as is illustrated by the following extract: "The Judges buckled down to sued, the first day after the 1931 law went into effect, 83 decrees; the first week, 275. On a particularly busy day, the divorce mill buzzed at the unprecedented speed of one decree every 10 minutes, and the county's cash register rang up $26 with each decree." been eager to cash in on this lucrative business. The Governor of the State of More los, Mexico, in 1925 issued the following statement: "I have been studying the situation at Reno, and I admit that we need some improvement here in Morelos. We intend to improve our present divorce procedure in many ways, several of which will appeal to our customers. I say customers for l consider the divorce industry purely in the light of a commercial transaction, as an operation in buying and selling."

Among the novel features which were enacted in Morelos was the provision that divorce could be obtained without the necessity of alleging or proving any grounds in

In 1927, Nevada was forced to reduce its residence requirement to three months. On Feb. 26, 1931, Arkansas stepped into the field by requiring a residence of only two months before the commencement of an action and of three months before final judgment, instead of the former year's residence. It made the further amendment of omitting the clause which required the plaintiff to prove that the cause of divorce occurred or existed in Arkansas, or, if out of the State, either that it was a legal cause of divorce where it existed, or that the plaintiff's residence was then in Arkansas.

A grand "jubilee" session of the Garland County (Ark.) Bar Association was held in the chancery courtroom of the Hot Springs Courthouse after this law was held valid by the State Supreme Court.

Idaho followed on March 3, 1931, by enacting, over the Governor's veto, a "90-day law." Two weeks later, Nevada proved that it did not intend to give up its advantage by passage of a statute under which the courts will give a "final decree of divorce" on six weeks' residence in the State.

An Arkansas lawyer, although admitting that "this relaxation may, perhaps, render Arkansas a jurisdiction of frequent resort for persons desiring divorce, and wishing it quickly," states that this 1931 revision was in no way intended to place Arkansas in the race to obtain migratory divorces. It is hardly conceivable that any other basis can be advanced in favor of these changes.

One inquiry to the Chamber of Commerce of Hot Springs, Ark., brought not only pertinent information relative to the new divorce laws, but also a flood of letters from hotels and railroads serving Hot Springs, clearly illustrating that Arkansas in seady, willing and able to handle all migratory callers. This Arkansas lawyer goes on: "Our State is a thousand miles or so nearer the East than Nevada or Idaho, and in climate, scenic beauty and means for whiling away the tedium of waiting for a decree. it need fear no comparison.

The most recent modification of Arkansas' legislation, which went into effect March 1, 1937, provides that divorce may be granted by mutual consent of the parties, provided they have lived apart for three consecutive years. The only justifiable conclusion is it is the firm intention of Arkansas, whatever the cost to society, to cash in on the "sucker" business which is swelling the coffers of Nevada, and to become the Mecca of dissatisfied pilgrims on the matrimonial

The most tragic phase of the migratory divorce problem is that these decrees are practically worthless, and, in many instances, bring only unhappiness to the parties. Where a state obtains personal service of both parties plus a bona fide domicile of either, or control of the marital domicile, the decree is entitled to full faith and credit in all other states. Moreover, if one party is a hone fide resident of the state anoth er jurisdiction, in its discretion, may recognize the divorce on the doctrine of comity But if neither party has a domicile in the state, the decree is cause it is rendered by a tribunal lacking in jurisdiction.

It is obvious that the domicile established in a divorce-mill state is merely a temporary one for the sole purpose of giving a color able right to the party to maintain the divorce suit there. Thus, although the temple of justice of that forum may solemnly wink at this fact, other states frequently refuse to recognize the decree.

The invalidity of these decrees has been declared by the courts of other states in suits of various kinds. The cases actually litigated indicate what disposition would be made of the far greater number of cases in which legal complications are only potential. These hazards are great enough to one whose means assure to him whatever legal remedies or practical safeguards there may be respecting his situation, but they are particularly perilous to the reckless and the ig-

Very little has been done to ameliorate the mischiefs which these divorce mills have produced. Any of the following suggestions would go far to alleviate this evil: A na tional, uniform code of divorce laws; a liberalization of divorce legislation in such states as New York, in which an absolute divorce is granted only if one of the parties has been guilty of adultery, or South Carolina, in which absolute divorces are not granted; a sacrifice by those states which cater to migratory patrons of this industry, in the interest of social and economic cor siderations; or a general realization that migratory decrees are legally worthless.

Whatever may be the remedy pursued, it is hoped that this challenge to our social and legal institutions will not remain unanswered. MORRIS JACK GARDEN. Second-year Law Student, Washington

Louis, in training at Lake Front Stadium for his bout, June 22, in Chicago with Heavyweight Champlon Jim Braddock, began "hombing" his sparmates publicly today. Louis was scheduled to work several rounds before newspaper men and cameramen. His co-managers, Black and John Roxborough, said he probably would engage in 19 or 20 public exhibitions as part of his conditioning routine. Plans now call for him to box Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays, Members of the Illinois State Box ing Commission were scheduled to

N L R B ORDERS SHOE FIRM TO DISSOLVE COMPANY UNION

Rules Closed Shop Contract Signed by Lion Management at Lynn, Mass., Is Illegal.

WASHINGTON, May 22. - The National Labor Relations Board or ered the Lion Shoe Co., Lynn Mass., today to withdraw "all rec ognition of the Lynn Shoe Work ers' Union, a plant organization.'
The board found the union "is a creature of the company and that therefore a closed shop contract made with it is an illegal agree ment." The decision said the union had been formed "to escape from dealing with the United Shoe and Leather Workers' Union," now an affiliate of the Committee for Iniustrial Organization.

In 1935, the board said, the Lior management closed its Lynn plant assisted in forming the company union and "eventually entered into the closed shop agreement where by the trade union members could not obtain employment unless they abandoned their United Shoe and Leather Workers' membership.'

The firm was ordered to reinstate their positions are now filled by persons who were not working for the company on Oct. 31, 1935, when the plant was closed. The company union, formed after this date, the poard said was "an instrument whereby the company enforces its will, and has maintained working conditions, hours and rates of pay dictated by itself."

CIO OBJECTS TO RADIO CHAIN

PREFACE TO LEWIS SPEECH Textile Committee Calls Announce ment Violation of Free Speech;

Cancels Contract. BOSTON, May 22.—Textile la bor organizers canceled a contract with the Colonial Network yesterday to broadcast a speech by John L. Lewis, chairman of CIO, asserting the network "violated free speech" by insisting on an accomanying announcement opposing CIO principles.

textile committee said it would file a protest with the Federal Communications Commission. The proposed announcement fol-"The next hour has been engaged by the textile workers organizing committee. The opinions to be expressed during the period are those of the speaker and his organization. They do not reflect the opinion of this network, the management of which is definitely opposed to certain principles of the CIO, notably the sit-down strike."

The statement, intended to preede and follow Lewis' speech, was termed by the committee "a viola-tion of the rights of free speech, fair play and a deliberate distortion of the principles of the CIO" which, it said, did not include the sit-down strike. "This phrase was inserted to prejudice our case before and after. It constitutes arbitrary control of the air."

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—By BOB BURNS

MAN RECEIVES the highest praise from people he helps, but the others that he don't help think he should be kicked out of office. I remember we had a bad drouth down home one time. The lumbermen had their logs all cut but there wasn't enough water in the creek to take the logs to the mill. The farmers were watchin' their crops gradually dry up. Finally they got together and got (Copyright, 1937.)

THERE is no place in bridge for fanatics. Rigid adherence to o-called rules or philosophies of pidding, regardless of the everchanging situations of part-score or personal element, is not sound bridge. It is fanaticism. Thus, few things can be more fatal than for a player to get into the rut of, let us say, always requiring ade quate trump support for a raise, always returning his partner's leads, always covering an honor, etc., ad nauseam. After all, no one can codify a set of rules that will triumphantly carry a person through life, and life and contract often are analogous to a startling degree many players, I wonder, would reach the correct final contract in the following hand? would bid as North did? Very few I fear! Yet, the inherent logic of North's final bid should be apparent. He was ready to deliver a least seven tricks to either a no trump or a heart contract. Partner's opening bid had removed the menace of the diamond situation, and partner's rebid, after hearing about opponent's spade suit, had done the same for spades. North could almost surely stop clubs and esides, his partner's two no trump indicated some club strength.

Styles Include Washable Fabrics in Variety of Models

GLOVES FOR SUMMER WEAR

By Prunella Wood

No reason why one's gloves should not launder as easily and successfully as one's hose but it depends on the glove! The models sketched here today include the firm or loose fits, in tailored, sports or frivolous moods, and fabrics that are smooth as kid, suede-like, lacy, ribbed or comparable to the much warmer doeskin-all washable and not expensive to start with.

THE handsome gauntlet sketched right, below, is, for instance, of ribbed fabric laced with a glossy satin cord run through eyelets, and dressy as it is, it's a pin money accessory with no upkeep problems The styling reminds one of the new fabric shoes that are piped with Stockings are not so easy to sketch, but their story can be written instead. Most novel in the latest models, and very, very smart are the Queen's lace mesh hose which flatter the wearer and look extremely feminine with either silk frocks or dressmakery suits. These hose, despite their lacy look have strong wearing qualities and they are not extravagant, either. One can buy them in knee length, with elastic hold-up bands, as well as full length.

A CLEAR beige skin tone, which will ensemble well with all types of clothes, and with all colors, is a winner in this Spring's hose color chart; a slightly darker shade looks especially well with dark town dresses; and a reddish suntan shade is proposed for our white gowns. For evening a light gold tan that takes to electric lights is suggested.

THIS June's bride should wear something old and something new to the altar by all meansand even something borrowed if she must be literal. But she might save the "something blue" for the theme of the bedroom in the new home. Because men like blue rooms remember when the most romantic song a young swain could croon into the ears of his lady love had words that said something about a "blue room far away upstairs."

A blue room that would please everybody, even the bank book, might be papered in ice blue with a tiny white floral pattern in it, with woodwork painted this same ice blue. Clear Speech Essential for Child's Future

"Person's Talk Betrays His as Nothing Else Can Do."

By Angelo Patri

Our tongue lends itself to lazy speech. It is so difficult to prounce some of our words clearly, sounding the essential vowels and consonants, that we take shortcuts and slur them into sounds that by long usage grow more and more foreign to their original sound.
"Whatcha doin'?"

"Doncha wishya noo?"

The two boys understood each other, of course, but who else would, or who would wish to in-terpret such sounds? Children are alone in their carelessness They are following copy rather closely. Speech is largely imitative in the young.

Clear, correct speech is no mean ment marks one who has an init up. Speech has its effect on thinking. Thinking has its effect on speech in return. One thing is speak with clarity and precision is more likely to think that way. That gives him an immediate advantage n all social relations.

People find it hard to listen for any length of time to even a wellmodulated, clearly spoken message. They soon give up trying to hear a speech that is uttered in blurred and broken sounds that may or may not suggest familiar words. People of affairs will no give any time to one whose speech marks him as under-taught, under practiced in the use of his tongue. They put him down either as ignorant or stupid and they want nothing further to do with him.

A person's speech betrays his background and his training as nothing else can do. Good clothes, a session with the beauty-barber-masseuse-baths cover a multitude of secrets, but once the tongue utters a word, the true inwardness of the personality is disclosed. Either it is right and acceptable, or it is not, and that is settled swiftly, at a breath,

THERE is no reason why any American school child should not acquire a clear speech, a well-modulated voice, a good vocabulary. He is offered every oppor-tunity to acquire them in school. Occasions for practice are as nusession. Too often children, especially those of the middle and upper elementary grades, feel self-conscious about talking correctly, merous as minutes of the school least afford it, go out of their way tion, they may cause painful calto practice the wrong way. MPHASIS should always be placed on the necessity for a knowledge of first aid and also on the technique of first aid treat-

Most accidents occur in the home, and most of these occur between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m., when it is not easy to get the help of a doctor or neighbor. This places complete re-liance on first aid methods, and indicates the importance of everyone being familiar with simple remedies and procedures.

Learn about first aid treatment before the accident occurs. After an accident occurs is not the time frantically to read up on what to do. Bruises, sprains, burns and fainting spells are among the common emergencies occurring in every home. Every member of the family should know what to do and turn immediately to supplies in the medicine chest.

According to the First Aid Council, the following supplies should be in every home medicine closet and readily available for use: One roll of one-inch sterilized bandage or compresses, supply of three-inch gauze squares, one roll of adhesive tape, one bottle tincture of iodine, one bottle spirits of ammonia (for fainting), one large tube of burn ointment, one bottle of syrup of ipecac (to induce vomiting after poisoning), boric acid (eye wash), rubbing alcohol or liniment (for sprains and soreness).

They were still in France trying out every golf course in Brittany and Normandy, and wondering whether to go south or whether to return to London and look for a some and penniless young man. But she married James Bellane, a middle-aged man of means. To learn about Bellane, Terry became friendly with Helen Forrest, attractive widow, who had been, and was still, in love with Bellane. In love with Helen was Mat Westward, a doctor, who was Bellane's best man at his wedding. On her wedding trip Doris began to find her husband "old-fashioned." Doris met Terry and they declared their love for each other. That night her husband gave her a beautiful string of pearls. The next day when he got home he found a note from Doris saying she was going to Terry Waters. Upon the astute advice of his motherin-law Bellane got in touch with Terry's employers. Terry was fired, but with the five thousand dollars that Doris received for selling her pearls, they went abroad. job for Terry, when Doris wrote o Bellane.

Stripes on Furniture

A Serial of Conflicts

It is rather nice to have colorful stripes on the light-painted furniture and perhaps the easiest way for the amateur painter to accomplish this successfully is to draw the stripes on the light paint with a colored crayon, using a yard stick to make them straight. After the stripes have been lined on, give the furniture a coat of white shellac all over. The shellac will keep the stripes intact and protect the paint as well.

Outside Leaves

The outside leaves of lettue which are so often discarded because they are not quite so whi as the center ones, may be shredded with a pair of scissors and used underneath a salad. They are quite as good and nutritious as the more appetizing center leaves and it is a shame to always discard so many

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

A MESS OF POTTAGE—Among the curious coronation services rendered in lieu of rent for large land grants, is that for the parish of Addington, Surrey, England. It is a mess of pottage called diligrout, which the owner of Addington is obliged to serve to his King in a new earthen jar during the coronation. The tenure dates back to 1447, when the King of England granted Addington to the fifth Earl of Shrewsbury. Diligrout consists of a mixture of mond milk, capon, sugar and spices.
